Flow Pack
Factory Fresh

It's not just new packaging, it's innovation

The new Flow Pack Packaging isn't just a upgrade in appearance. It's real innovation. Reeds are like other wooden musical instruments. They all perform their best at between 45% and 60% humidity.

Innovation

The new Flow Pack packaging keeps reeds at that perfect factory fresh humidity level until you open it and play it. The results are astounding. Reeds that perform immediately and play like you picked them that day from the south of France.

Convenience

With individually wrapped reeds, you can throw a few extra in your case and know they won't get damaged. And when you pull them out, they'll still be factory fresh. B flat clarinet and alto saxophone reeds are also available in sleeves of thirty reeds making band room distribution easier than ever.

The new Vandoren Flow Packs. Huge innovation in a small package.
